With her wide walkaround teak decks, traditional full teak interior finished with walnut she is a truly classic style cruiser. This Eastbay 43 HX has the two-cabin floor plan. The master stateroom with its island berth is forward, and the adjacent head compartment, to starboard, combines a marine head, sink and shower. The smaller second stateroom, to port, is laid out with over-under bunks. Moving aft, there's a U-shaped galley to port, amidships, with an L-shaped dinette opposite. The pilothouse/saloon features a starboard helm station with pedestal seat and a spacious dash with room for a full range of electronics. There is an L-shaped lounge aft, with a cocktail table and an opposing settee. The Grand Banks Eastbay 43 with a deep V-hull is equipped with twin diesel Caterpillar engines (each 475 Hp) and shaft drives which are mounted in tunnels to reduce the shaft angles to sail in shallow waters.
